

Bare Brilliant

Design Language, Website Direction, and Sample Copy Guide for Developer Handoff

Purpose: This document defines the visual system, tone, website styling direction, and practical UI guidance for Bare Brilliant. It is intended to help a developer or designer translate the brand into a polished premium website without ambiguity.

Positioning summary: Bare Brilliant is the premium-facing brand with engagement rings as a key focus. It should feel understated, emotional, and editorial - more premium and poetic than ZMD, but still usable enough to convert.

1. Brand Strategy - What Bare Brilliant Should Feel Like

- Quiet premium, not loud showroom luxury.
- Emotional and elevated, not discount-driven.
- Editorial and intimate, not catalogue-heavy.
- Sophisticated enough for engagement rings, but still warm and human.
- Minimal, controlled, and visually confident.

Core principle: Bare Brilliant should feel like a premium jewellery house with a modern, restrained point of view. It should rely on composition, typography, shadow, spacing, and subtle warmth - not on flashy gold, heavy gradients, or over-decoration.

2. Color System

This color direction is based on the image moodboard shared earlier: dark editorial tones, charcoal depth, warm ivory text, and muted platinum accents. The result should feel cinematic, calm, and premium.

Usage	Hex Code	Preview	Color Name
Primary Background	#0B0B0C		Ink black
Secondary Background	#171718		Deep charcoal
Layer Background	#2A2A2C		Soft ash grey
Primary Text	#F1EFEA		Warm ivory
Secondary Text	#C7C4BE		Muted linen
Accent Platinum	#C9C3B8		Brushed platinum
Accent Warm	#DCD6CC		Soft stone beige
Border / Divider	#3A3938		Smoked graphite
Alt Surface Tint	#F7F4EF		Pale editorial cream

Recommended usage notes:

- Use #0B0B0C for hero backgrounds, premium section anchors, footer, and moments of dramatic contrast.
- Use #171718 and #2A2A2C for layered sections, cards, or product backdrops on dark screens.
- Use #F1EFEA as the primary text tone on dark backgrounds instead of pure white.

- Use #C9C3B8 and #DCD6CC as subtle metallic or premium accents, not dominant fills.
- Use #F7F4EF sparingly for form surfaces or editorial break sections if the site needs relief from continuous dark backgrounds.

Suggested CSS variable tokens:

```
--bb-bg: #0B0B0C;
--bb-bg-secondary: #171718;
--bb-surface: #2A2A2C;
--bb-text: #F1EFEA;
--bb-text-muted: #C7C4BE;
--bb-accent: #C9C3B8;
--bb-accent-soft: #DCD6CC;
--bb-border: #3A3938;

3. Design Language and Visual Direction

Bare Brilliant should feel more editorial than commercial. It is not a bright transactional jewellery site first. It should first create aspiration and emotional depth, then support conversion with clarity in later sections.

- Dark, quiet, and controlled overall.
- Use full-bleed imagery selectively for emotional impact.
- Prefer close crops, hands, skin texture, ring detail, and selective negative space.
- Avoid making every section feel like an e-commerce grid.
- Use product clarity where needed, but do not lose the premium mood.

Photography direction:

- Use low-light or directional studio lighting with soft shadow transitions.
- Keep skin tones natural and slightly warm, not orange.
- Use premium close-up ring shots with texture and controlled sparkle.
- Avoid overly glossy catalogue lighting or hyper-saturated metal tones.
- Mix artistic lifestyle compositions with selected crisp product frames.

4. Typography Direction

Typography is one of the most important brand carriers for Bare Brilliant. The overall impression should feel fashion-editorial, elevated, and composed.

- Headline direction: elegant high-contrast serif.
- UI / body text direction: clean modern sans-serif for balance and readability.
- Headlines can be large, sparse, and spacious.
- Body copy should be restrained and not overly verbose.
- Avoid loud promotional typography or crowded text blocks.

Suggested font pairings:

Option A: Playfair Display + Inter

Option B: Cormorant Garamond + Neue Haas Grotesk / Helvetica / Arial

Option C: DM Serif Display + Manrope

5. Tone of Voice and Sample Website Copy

Tone should be minimal, assured, intimate, and elegant. Bare Brilliant should speak less, but say the right thing.

Homepage headline options:

- Understated brilliance.
- Crafted to shine.
- For moments that deserve more than ordinary.
- Engagement rings with quiet confidence.

Subheadline options:

- Designed with restraint. Made to be remembered.
- A premium ring collection shaped by clarity, craft, and feeling.
- Modern engagement rings for a timeless promise.

Support / brand copy samples:

- Every detail is considered - from proportion and finish to how the ring feels when worn.
- Crafted for significance, not excess.
- Premium design, quiet confidence, lasting brilliance.

6. Website Structure and Layout Guidance

Bare Brilliant should still convert, but the first job of the homepage is emotional positioning. It should feel like entering a premium world, not just browsing a product list.

Recommended homepage flow:

- 1 Hero section - emotional image, premium headline, restrained CTA
- 2 Brand philosophy / statement section
- 3 Featured engagement ring collection
- 4 Craftsmanship or materials story
- 5 Select trust section - certification, quality, consultation, customization
- 6 Editorial/lifestyle image break
- 7 Best sellers or curated product block
- 8 Final CTA

Layout rules:

- Allow generous negative space and wider margins than a typical commerce site.
- Prefer asymmetry in key sections, but keep the overall system controlled.
- Use fewer, stronger modules instead of many small blocks.
- Product grids should feel curated, not crowded.
- Keep cards, dividers, and containers visually quiet.

CTA guidance:

Primary CTA style:

- Background: #F1EFEA
- Text: #0B0B0C
- Secondary dark version: #171718 with #F1EFEA text
- Radius: soft but not rounded-playful
- Tone: calm, premium, intentional

7. Component-Level Guidance for Developer

Component	Guidance
Navbar	Dark transparent or solid ink-black navigation, understated links, refined serif/sans balance, subtle CTA.
Hero	Full-bleed premium image or cinematic crop with minimal headline and breathing room.
Product Card	Minimal card treatment, quiet border or no border, elegant typography, reduced clutter.
Story Section	Use larger type, short copy, and image-led layout to reinforce premium positioning.
Buttons	Light ivory primary buttons, dark secondary buttons, no loud hover animation.

Component	Direction
Forms	Soft cream or charcoal surfaces with enough spacing; forms should feel premium, not utilitarian.
Footer	Deep black/charcoal footer with warm ivory text and restrained link styling.

8. What to Avoid

- Do not use bright gold, bright blue, or high-saturation luxury clichés.
- Do not overload the page with price-first or discount-first language.
- Do not make every section equally dark and heavy without relief or spacing.
- Do not use overly generic jewellery-store templates with glitter effects or ornate decorations.
- Do not sacrifice readability for mood - premium should still feel usable.

Final principle: Bare Brilliant should make a user feel that they are entering a more refined emotional world - one built around commitment, beauty, restraint, and significance.
